FIREARMS REGISTRY

Firearm Types

All persons possessing and using firearms in NSW must hold a firearms licence authorising the possession and use of those particular types of firearm. In addition the firearms may only be used in connection with the genuine reason for which the licence was issued.

This FACT sheet provides information on the different categories of licence available and the types of firearms to which they apply.

What are the licence categories applicable to licence holders in NSW?

Category A
Category B
Category C
Category D
Category H
Firearms Collector
Firearms Dealer

What firearms are applicable to a Category A firearms licence?

- * Air rifles.
- * Rimfire rifles (other than self-loading).
- * Shotguns (other than pump action or self-loading).
- * Shotgun/rimfire combinations.

All prohibited firearms are excluded from this licence category. Prohibited firearms are listed in Schedule 1 of the Firearms Act 1996.

What firearms are applicable to a Category B firearms licence?

- * Muzzle-loading firearms (other than pistols).
- * Centre-fire rifles (other than self-loading).
- * Shotgun/centre-fire rifle combinations.

All prohibited firearms are excluded from this licence category. Prohibited firearms are listed in Schedule 1 of the Firearms Act 1996.

What firearms are applicable to a Category C firearms licence?

- * Self-loading rimfire rifles with a magazine capacity of no more than 10 rounds.
- * Self-loading shotguns with a magazine capacity of no more than 5 rounds.
- * Pump action shotguns with a magazine capacity of no more than 5 rounds.

These firearms are prohibited except for limited purposes.

Some firearms, specifically those adapted for military purposes, are excluded under all circumstances from this licence category.

What firearms are applicable to a Category D firearms licence?

- * Self-loading centre-fire rifles.
- * Self-loading rimfire rifles with a magazine capacity of more than 10 rounds.
- * Self-loading shotguns with a magazine capacity of more than 5 rounds.
- * Pump action shotguns with a magazine capacity of more than 5 rounds.
- * Any firearms to which a Category C licence applies.

These firearms are prohibited except for official purposes.

Some firearms, specifically those adapted for military purposes, are excluded under all circumstances from this licence category.

What firearms are applicable to a Category H firearms licence?

- * Pistols (including blank fire pistols and air pistols).

Prohibited firearms are excluded from this licence category. Prohibited pistols are not authorised for Sport/Target shooters.

Are there restrictions on the types of firearms allowed for each genuine reason?

Yes. There are restrictions on the category of licence, and therefore types of firearms, allowed for each genuine reason. See Genuine Reason FACT Sheets for information on restrictions on categories of licence and types of firearms authorised for each genuine reason.

NOTE: All firearms must be registered to the licence holder and may only be used in connection with the purpose established by the person as being the genuine reason for possessing or using the firearm - Section 7 & 7A of the Firearms Act 1996.

Are there any restrictions on the number and type of firearms authorised on these licence categories?

Yes. There are restrictions on the acquisition of handguns for Probationary Pistol Licence holders.

No Permits to Acquire a Handgun will be issued for the first six months of the probationary licence. Only two Permits to Acquire will be issued in the second six months of the probationary licence.

As a Probationary Pistol Licence holder you may have a combination of any two handguns, with the exception that you must not possess a centrefire and a rimfire pistol at the same time, within the second six months.

Are there any other restrictions?

Yes. The number of firearms authorised under a Category C licence are limited to:

- * No more than one registered self-loading rimfire rifle with a magazine capacity of no more than 10 rounds, and
- * No more than one registered shotgun.

Consideration may be given to increasing the number of firearms authorised under this licence, if a special need exists, and has been established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner.

The special need could be size of the rural property or because your activities involve more than one rural property.

Yes. The number of firearms authorised under a Category D licence issued to a primary producer, (or a person who is the owner, lessee or manager of land used for primary production) and who is participating in an authorised campaign under the VPAC genuine reason, is restricted to one only.
